Hello Everyone,

Here is the update of today's manual removal of Eurasian water milfoil (EWM). Dave and Lana removed as many of the plants as they could today. Attached is a picture of the plant mass that Dave and Lana Blumer removed today. Thanks to Kevin Keenan and Roy Nickel for their help and response to my last-minute email this morning. Thank you to others who I called to disturb your Sunday morning when I was looking for volunteers. Dave will send a shapefile of the location of the bed to Matt Berg. Matt Berg will conduct a survey of the lake this fall.

Again, when you are on shore be watchful for EWM fragments. Please report them to me or any of our board members.
